Following publication of the original articles [1–55], it is noticed that the editors as authors should be declared in the Competing Interests section.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [1]:

Yi Chen is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [2]:

Jianzhong Ma is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [3]:

Bi Shi is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [4]:

Yanchun Li is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [5]:

Sujay Prabakar is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [6]:

Keyong Tang is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [7]:

Sujay Prabakar is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [8]:

Guoying Li is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [9]:

Wei Lin is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [10]:

Yi Chen is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.

The following statements should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [11]:

Bi Shi and Ya-nan Wang are members of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering, and Bi Shi serves as the Editor-in-Chief.

The following statement should be added to the Competing Interests section in article [12]:

Yi Chen is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Leather Science and Engineering.
